

Demography Seminar

Tuesday, March 21st

12:15pm-1:30pm

8417 Sewell Building

Jinkook Lee

University of Southern California

Department of Economics

Late-Life Cognition and Dementia in India

Methodological Innovations and Substantive Implications

Dr. Lee's research expertise includes economics of aging, family economics, and consumer finances, with particular interests in health, retirement, and well-being of the elderly. She has developed several large-scale, multidisciplinary longitudinal studies and has been a co-principal investigator of the Longitudinal Aging Study in India since its inception.