Tuesday, May 2nd

12:15pm-1:30pm

8417 Sewell Building

Manisha Shah

University of California,
Los Angeles

Luskin School of Public Affairs

Two Sides of Gender: Sex, Power, and Adolescence

Dr. Shah is a development economist whose primary research and teaching interests lie at the intersection of applied microeconomics, health, and development. She has written several papers on the economics of sex markets in order to learn how more effective policies and programs can be deployed to slow the spread of HIV/AIDS and other sexually transmitted infections.
